Dear OBCCTC

We are writing you today to voice our opinion on the proposal regarding small companies who have less than 10 tags being eliminated. This Current proposal posted on BC trucking commissioner website clearly states that small companies are being targeted and bullied. These small companies put their more than 100% to make customer relations and establish their business though they are small but it's their livelihood Millions of money has been invested in trucks, equipment's and staff but with just one proposal without any consideration all will go in vain. This is clear example of being unfair and unrealistic. OBCCTC clearly favouring large companies which were not became large over a night. Like they say Rome wasn't built in a day. If given a chance and more tags small companies can be large who have potential, work and customers. But current tag system doesn't provide any opportunity for small companies to grow but favouring large companies to become larger. Canadian government and BC govt claims to be fair and with people but in this case it looks like nobody bother about people belong to these companies who are about to lose everything as their business means everything to them like all other businesses. No other country and not even other provinces of Canada have this type of discrimination system. Where marine terminals and container work is being operated. OBCCTC need to help current companies to grow and would have given more opportunity as they have years of experience in container industry rather than bringing new companies with no experience. The way proposal is designed it's going to effect companies and its people which is going to be very hurtful and unfair. And thus we do not agree with the OBCCTC proposal and we highly opposite.

Your Sincerely
